ARABIA BRINGS WILD BEASTS

Schooner William Renton and Steamer Northlander Both Cross Out Lumber Laden—Nothing of Any Great Moment Occurs—Blowing Hard Up River

District Forecaster Beals will try to get weather reports from craft equipped with wireless telegraph apparatus, while they are far out at sea. He has asked officials in the Weather Bureau Service at San Francisco and Seattle to take the matter up with captains of commercial vessels that may be in a position to send messages regularly to North Head.

Through the North Head station private messages have been received from ships 1300 miles distant. Mr. Beals asserts that a report of atmospheric conditions that far away would be particularly valuable to him and to the public alike. He could incorporate the reports in his daily map, furnishing data that could not otherwise be secured. The wireless stations on the coast are operated under direction of the Navy Department, which, it is thought, will be willing to assist in the plan.

The steamer President, of the Pacific Coast Steamship Company's fleet, is the only coaster as yet equipped with a wireless plant. In a month or so the Governor, sister ship of the President, will reach the Pacific, and she will carry similar apparatus. Before the summer is far advanced many Oriental liners are expected to install it, and furnish valuable weather reports from mid-ocean.

Deep-sea skippers say every off-shore vessel in the passenger trade will soon be equipped with wireless. In time the improvement will be regarded as fully essential to a steamship, it is stated, as the telephone to an office. Besides, it will be a revenue producer, say those who have given the matter thought. Passengers, it is said, will furnish more than enough business to pay the salary of the operator.

The German steamer Arabia left up Tuesday night. She is from Hong Kong and brought besides her large cargo of bags several zoological specimens to be added to the collection in Portland City Park. The Arabia was 19 days in making the trip from Yokohama which is two days longer than the usual time. Strong head winds and heavy seas were the cause of this unusual delay. As soon as she has discharged her freight the Arabia will load a cargo of flour, and she will finish so as to clear about June 25th.

The steam schooner Della came in from Nantuxca. She had a big load of cheese. The Della on her trip up towed the San Bueno Ventura into Tillamook Bay. It was the San Buena Ventura which recently by flying signals of distress, took the G. W. Elder out of her course and delayed her a couple of hours on her passage. It turned out that the schooner was in a pretty bad fix, the crew being on short rations and almost every stitch of canvas having been blown to ribbons.

The British steamer Kalibia will finish loading 500,000 feet of lumber at Humes Mill tomorrow. She will then go to Rainier and after that to Prescott where her cargo will be completed.

The steamship Alliance which was down on time today had for a passenger on her trip up Sheriff Pomeroy and his prisoner, Charles Duke, en route for Salem.

The schooner William Renton which loaded 498,000 feet of lumber at Goble went to sea yesterday. She is bound for San Francisco.

The British ship Buccleugh is reported as having passed Dungeness bound for the Columbia on June 19th. She hails from Hamburg.

The steamer Northland went to sea yesterday. She takes a cargo of lumber to San Francisco.
